

Hand Sanitizer Disposal Services

Collection and Disposal - We Have You Covered

If your business has excess hand sanitizer that is now expired, did you know bulk amounts of expired hand sanitizer are considered hazardous?

The USDA classified hand sanitizer as a Class 3 Flammable Liquid because it contains a large amount of ethyl or isopropyl alcohol. Expired hand sanitizers are even more hazardous because the hand-rubbing agent evaporates generating flammable methanol. Because of this Class 3 classification, there are special disposal requirements that need to be followed.

At MEG we have the approved equipment and containers required to properly dispose of expired hand sanitizer. If you have bulk expired hand sanitizer, contact us today, and one of our hazardous waste removal experts will provide you with a free quote.

When you work with MEG, you can expect:

- Safety as our #1 priority
- Operation Centers nationwide, providing efficient response times from coast to coast
- 24/7 access to Emergency Response professionals
- Qualified team of highly-trained supervisors, managers and compliance teams
- Clear communication & timely job completion
- Financial stability providing continued investment in our staff & equipment